

SuperChat:	User Banning/Filtering
Actors	One Client
Description	A client (Client A) who desires to filter out another user's messages (Client B) from his terminal may type #b to hide all of the messages from the his (Client A's) terminal as they start being sent. Entering #b again will show the filtered user's (Client B) messages again as the messages are sent.
Data	Two user's nicks
Stimulus	Client A types and enters #b
Response	The messages sent by Client B will be filtered from Client A's terminal as they are sent out.
Comments	The rest of the clients still receive Client B's messages.